NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 23—There was renewed realising or scattering liquidation in the cotton market in today's early trading. The disposition to take profits, which had been in evidence yesterday, was probably encouraged by the favorable weather in the South, disappointing Liverpool cables and expentations of a bearish weekly report from the weather bureau today. After opentations are also as the series of the series of

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 23 - Poor ca-NEW ORLEANS, April III —Poor cables and continued favorable weather in the best were responsible for a drop of 32 points in the price of catton contracts around the opening today.
Salling pressure was not severe, and at the end of the first half hour of trading the market was back within 10 to 15 points of yesterday's close.
While the weekly reports on the crop were generally considered to be less favorable than many traders expected, they still were favorable enough to the crease selling orders. In the trading on to noon the market fell 37 to 47 points below the close of yesterday.
Sudden and heavy buying for which there seemed to be no special reason, appeared and the ring was caught short. Prices bulged sharply and in the trading up to 1 o'clock the net decline disappeared and prices were sent 2 to 5 points over yesterday's final quotations.

New Orleans—Take no stock in this talk about 24 to 25 cents being cost presentation; think late rise five cents d'sposes of abnormal reduction acreage Greatly doubt if postwar demand will meet speculative expectations, recent short position has been reversed.—Ellis & to. night letter.

New York—Liverpool spot sales are cross and the position in the point advance. These certainly serve to confirm an expanding demand for goods in Manchester. Trade buying here continues in evidence, also for foreign account, the continuntal part being helped by further reduction in traights. Inder influence of improved weather conditions over the belt and the probability of a satisfactory weekly report some are expecting a reaction in prices, but so confident in present values in the trade generally, that all setbacks are availed of to secure contracts.—Fallon to Shepard & Gluck.

Chicago.—The corn market absorbed an immense load yesterday in the way of long stuff and short selling, but recovered in a very gratifying manner to buils. A sustaining influence seems to be the fact that longs have been accepting profits pretty regularly. September oats are gaining friends, mainly on the short crop theory. There is some talk that the largest shorts in corn are Eastern longs in cotton who have sold corn on the enlarged acreage prospects of the South at the expense of cotton acreage.—Wagner & Co.

WEEKLY CROP AND WEATHER SUMMARY

The summary of weather and crop conditions in the cotton region for the week ended April 22, issued from Washington, follows:

Absence of rain to light showers was favorable for planting cotton and the preparation of soil, especially in the western portion, but moderately low temperature caused slow germination and growth of that crop up to the latter part of the week, but conditions were more favorable in most locallties. Planting of cotton is begun north ties. Planting of cotton is began north-to Northern North Carolina and South-ern Oklahoma, and chopping out in Southern Georgia. Moisture generally ample except in Texas, where more is needed, with higher temperature, for germination.

Corn and also garden truck crops show rather slow growth in the south-ern districts on account of low tem-peratures, but the week was favorable for pastures and meadows.

peratures, but the week was favorable for pastures and meadows.

The summary of weather and crop conditions in Tennessee for the week ended April 22, as issued from Nashville, Tenn., follows:

Rainfall was ample, yet occurred on only one or two days and did not interfere seriously with farm work. Temperature and sunshine conditions were good. It was unusually cool the mornings of the 17th, 18th and 19th, with light frost, but no material damage resulted.

Cotton planting was begun in the southern counties and preparations for planting went forward satisfactorily pretty generally in the cotton counties. Corn planting is becoming general, the week being quite favorable for this work in most sections. Some early planted corn is up. Weather conditions continued favorable for wheat, rye, oats and clover. Wheat made excellent progress this week, irish pótaloes are coming up well. The week was favorable for gardening and the progress of truck that is already up. Strawberries are generally in full bloom and the fruit is setting, giving very good prospects. Tobacco plants in the beds made good progress under the favorable conditions. Hay crops did well.
